Growers / Wineries are in alphabetical order with area underneath

A great deal has happened since independence was achieved in 1989 and the enormous task of restoring the government owned vineyard land to the previous owners took a long time. Today about 17% of the arable land is under vine with the country divided into 8 main regions. These areas are very much influenced by the Danube, the Black Sea and the Carpathian Mountains. Although international vines have been planted these is a lot of work being done with the big range of indigenous varieties.
